DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

#103 is a large 3-1/2 story early Federal period brick mansion, attached on both sides and with a newer, one story brick rear wing. It is five bays wide and three bays in depth with the front facade laid in Flemish bond. The large front Georgian-Federal entranceway occupies the center bay with a six panel door, leaded glass sidelights in an arced design separated by narrow, Doric, fluted columns and topped by an elliptical arched fanlight in a sunburst design with chain trim. This lies above a richly moulded transom bar and the brick arch is of long shaped voussoirs. This doorway is approached by a white Maryland marble porch of nine steps sided by decorative cast iron railings with brass finials. All house windows are of 6/6 sash with flat brickarches of shaped voussoirs, white marble sills and louvered shutters. Third story windows are lower and front cellar windows are of 6/3 sash. The attic is well lighted by three 9/6 sash, round arched stepped dormer windows on the front and rear. This house is covered by a moderate slope "A" frame slate roof and pairs of triple flue enclosed chimneys, joined by curtains, rise from each gable. Rooflines are decorated by moulded, boxed cornices on the front and rear. The buildings set on a high fieldstone foundation faced with stucco. Fronting the house is a cast iron fence said to have been made at nearby Catoctin Furnace, the family business. The entrance is marked by tall, square, stuccoed brick pillars topped by spheres on pedestals and supporting tall cast iron gates. It encloses areas of lawn, evergreens, small trees and seasonal plantings. There is a old worn brownstone carriage step block and an iron foot scraper just inside the entrance gate.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This impressive old Federal-Georgian mansion reflects the early trend of beauty through simplicity and form. It is one of the major components of the City's most fashionable residential area, Court House Square. Originally, the rear grounds contained a full set of brick dependencies similar to those of its neighbor at #105, both built by the architect Andrew McClerry for Col. James MacPherson. This is now the Frederick home of U.S. Senator Charles McC. Mathias.
